The AKC Concert & Its Impacts

Dear AKC supporters,

Adding to the recent news of event that AKC committee has organized which was "The AKC Kids & Community Youth Concert" to celebrate the 63rd International Children Day and Cambodian Children Day, 01 June 2012, under the subject of "All for Children and Education".

The night has been the perfect, significant, and most meaningful night for the Samrong community with a population approximately 2,600.00 people, and the surrounding communities. The show not only to entertain the communities with the perfect, brave and talented performance of the kids aged ranging from eight to fifteen years old, but it gave them also a lot of experiences and knowledges to how much the importance of children development and human development through the education sector are. Furthermore, through the educational spots performed by the motivated and talented community youth as well as the speeches of the presided community authority officers, plus the talk of the M.C., the community really understand how important is the education especially English language in their social environment where they are being resided, on the booming tourist city of Siem Reap where it is famous for UNESCO listed Angkor temples. Thanks to all the support and the donations, and the most grateful to Ms Kirsten Colquhoun & Mr Gavin Cunningham, a Scottish couple, and Mr Stefan Habermeier & Ms Lani Phen, a German couple and the founder of Help4Cambodia, for sponsoring to make this event happen.

As a result, surprisingly, after the show the kids flooding the center of Angkor Kids Center (AKC)! The ones already have basic knowledge of English have been orally tested and sent to the four existing classes. Whereas, the new kids who have never touched the English before have been placed in a new class sitting direct to the ground floor, opened under a house of a family near the previous classes. This class are full of kids with the age between five to eight years old; some of them come themselves with the assistance of the families, while some others are encouraged by the families to come. Some kids told the AKC team that they come here because there are a lot of activities to do at AKC, and they want to do the same as their friends; some other said they hear their friend speak English and they want to speak this language too. While the older aged children said, I just learned what AKC can offered them with what the are looking for during the concert, and AKC look so professional. Furthermore, the families told AKC that they want their children to be educated, as AKC not only offer the English but a lot more programs, and they really see how important English is to the present living.

It is nonsense to say no to anyone even the flow is too tight, so far we have five classes with one hundred sixty-eight up to this released date, 18 June 2012, and estimated that we have to open a new class after the new school building funded by Cambridge-Hong Kong Operation for International Children is properly inaugurated. AKC team is studying to get the specific data of the class stationeries to supply the center and the studying stuff for the kids whose parents or guardians have signed with AKC internal policy to coordinate with AKC committee to control the students.

Since, we have a lot of work to do within this term, we are so worried about the fund to cover such a big amount, as most of the money that we get now has been spent out, and going to spend on the Human resource development, and infrastructure development, for instance, the donation that we got from Ms Nele Nopper, a German traveler, Mr Soichi Ogata, a Japanese traveler and Mr Maurice RiséFrisé, a Swiss traveler during the concert will be going to spend on the English native speaking teaching classes for the 6 teachers in town; and a great donation that we get from Ms Kirsten Colquhoun during her participation with 5 personrelays 2012 Cape Wrath Challenge 19 May 12 will be going to the infrastructure development, the details to specify later.

With this sense, AKC is strongly rely on your foundation and private donation to support this fundamental English classes to be alive, since you know that AKC projects are living only on your nation, and the support from the tour service friendlier support tour service providers team, choose your exclusive mode of touring in Cambodia with the AKC support tour service suppliers (car, multi-lingual guides...) with direct help the unprivileged communities through the projects implementation of Angkor Kids Center!

Interested in helping and sharing with us, please contact us at any time, your expense to half a meal will be worth us to buy two or three set of class materials for our students!

Thanks for your time and consideration through message, sharing and spreading out the project we are doing is a big part to help us develop ourselves.

All the best wishes, and regards,
